Konjola Brought Amazing Relief To Her After Years' Suffering

In Marion and all nearby towns a multitude of people have found surprising relief from their rheumatism after giving Konjola a trial. This medicine is not a chemical, tablet or capsule, but a remarkable new liquid compound, which contains juices extracted from 22 of Nature's finest medicinal roots and herbs. These cleanse away the impurities through the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus ending the aches and pains and benefiting the stomach and inner-organs at the same time, which is the safest, surest and best way to conquer the ailments known as rheumatism or neuritis.

THE KONJOLA MAN

The Konjola Man at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 S. Main St., Marion, is meeting large crowds daily and explaining this new compound. Hundreds of testimonials are on file from people of Marion and vicinity who have already benefited by giving Konjola a trial.

One of the latest residents of this section to indorse Konjola is Mrs. Sarah Baum, 371 Clinton St., Marion.

"I suffered for years with rheumatism," said Mrs. Baum, "and never could get any permanent relief until I found Konjola. This medicine certainly reached my case in a wonderful way in very quick time.

"My legs and back hurt me all the time. The joints of my knees were stiff and swollen, and besides, I was nervous all the time, and also having trouble with my stomach. Sharp pains would strike me across the region of my kidneys and, I tell you, it was about all I could stand. Sometimes I could barly walk. In this condition I began taking Konjola, and in less than a week I was feeling better in every way than I have in years. The rheumatic pains and aches disappeared more and more every day, and now I am entirely free of my troubles. I have taken four bottles of Konjola and I don't know what it is like to have backaches any more, or stomach trouble. I feel better in general, and yesterday I took my first long walk, which is something I couldn't do in three years, and my friends can verify this.

"After the wonderful work of Konjola in my case, I am glad to indorse such a medicine to others, because I know what it can do."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every town of this whole section.—Adv.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL," etc.

Read This First

SALLY JEROME, 20 and clever and pretty, is the prop and mainstay of her family, in the absence of her father who has been separated from her mother for many years.

The family consists of MRS. JEROME; the twins, BEAU and MILLIE; and Sally, herself. Mrs. Jerome is a semi-invalid, so Sally does the housework mornings and works for MR. PEEVEY downtown afternoons.

In the flat below the Jerome flat lives young TED SLOAN, who's in love with Sally. Mrs. Jerome is dreadfully afraid that Sally will marry him and leave her, but Sally has nothing but friendship for Ted. The only man she's interested in is JOHN NYE, who's office is across the hall from Mr. Peevey's in the Nye-Naylor building.

On a Monday in August Millie comes into Sally's office with the news that she's had to quit her job because her employer tried to make love to her. This is always Millie's excuse when she loses up a position, but Beau's girl, MABEL WILMOT, says the real reason is that Millie won't stay in an office unless there's somebody there with whom she's in love.

Millie catches a glimpse of John Nye and "falls for him" on the spot. Late that afternoon Nye meets Sally in the hall of the building and asks her if she happens to know of a stenographer to take the place of his own, who has just got married. Sally tells him about Millie, but when Millie goes down to see him the next day he has just been called out of town because of the illness of his mother at a neighboring summer resort. Millie decides to rest until he returns and then apply for the jobb.

That night Mabel Wilmot gives a party at the Jerome flat. Sally provides the refreshments, thinking, of course, that Mabel will pay for them. But when Mabel leaves at midnight she airily remarks that Beau will pay for them. But Sally knows that Beau never pays for anything, and she's frantic.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER VII

IT was Sally's habit to get up at six o'clock every morning of the year, winter and summer. It gave her a full hour to herself before it was time to put the coffee on to boil and to cut the bread for breakfast.

That hour was the pleasanteset time of the whole day for her. She took a leisurely bath, did her "upsetting" exercises, manicured her nails, brushed her hair until it shone like blue-black satin, and set her room to rights.

It belonged to her—that hushed hour before the rest of the family was up and stirring. Before the day with its endless jobs for Mrs. Jerome and the twins, for Mr. Peevey, engulfed her.

But on the morning after Mabel's party Sally woke up long before six o'clock. The dawn was still pearly-white outside and a cool breeze shook the ruffled curtains of the room.

She woke with the memory of a dream still hazy in her mind—a dream about John Nye!

"Now, why under the sun should I be dreaming about him?" Sally asked herself as the dream came back to her, bit by bit, like the parts of a puzzle-picture.

She had dreamt that she was in a restaurant, all alone at a little table. Next to her were two other people, a man and a woman. In her dream she had turned her head stealthily to see who they were, and had seen John Nye and Millie, holding hands across the little table where they sat. As she watched them they had leaned toward each other, and John Nye had kissed Millie squarely on the mouth.

After that point, Sally could remember nothing more of the dream. But there was a very real feeling of jealousy in her heart as she lay there in the dawn-coolness, thinking about it.

It seemed to her that she still could see John Nye's dark, good-looking face as he had leaned towards Millie in the dream. And it came to her, in a blinding flash, that the reason she was jealous was because she was in love with John Nye!—It had taken the dream to show her the truth that she had been hiding from herself for two days; that she had fallen in love with him suddenly, blindly and foolishly—the way a woman falls in love just once in her life, no matter how many little love affairs she may have before and after that once!

Dreams are queer and mysterious things. We try to explain them in all sorts of ways. The dream-books that can be bought in drug-stores and five-and-ten-cent stores try to explain them and tell us what they mean. The learned doctors of Vienna and Paris and London and New York try to explain them, too. But nobody knows what they really are, or why we have them. Nobody.

Be that as it may, Sally's dream about John Nye had settled one question for her for all time. She knew she was in love with him.

While she lay there in her bed with her thoughts far away, she became aware of noises in the house—the sound of a door opening and of softly-shod feet walking around the rooms.

Presently Beau's voice came from the bathroom:

"Sally, Sally, where in Tophet is the baking soda?—I'm sick as a hounddog and I want some!"

"S-s-h!" hissed Sally, tumbling out of bed and into her kimono. "It's in the kitchen cupboard, of course!"

She got it, and mixed him a strong dose of it. His face was pale gray, and his eyes had puffs beneath them.

He shuddered as he emptied the glass. "I sure am at low-pressure this a. m.," he groaned, with one hand pressed to his stomach.

"I hate to say 'I told you so,' but you know you can't drink, Beau," Sally said to him with her motherly little air. "And if you must put gin in the punch at these parties why you have them on Saturday nights instead of in the middle of the week. Now, you'll never be able to go to work today."

"Sure I will. I'll go if it kills me," answered Beau, and shuffled back to bed.

True to his word, he went to work that morning.

He appeared at the door of Sally's room at seven, fully dressed and looking the picture of misery.

"What on earth are you doing, up at this time?" Sally gasped when she saw him. Usually Beau had to be literally dragged from his bed in the morning.

"I'm going to walk part of the way to the bank," he moaned. "I thought the fresh air and the exercise might set me up—I sure am sick."

He stood there, gazing intently at her for a minute more. Then he asked a question: "Say, Sal, you couldn't slip me a fiver, could you? I'm flat busted."

Sally's blue eyes widened. "Why, it's only Wednesday morning, Beau!" she exclaimed. "And you got your pay on Saturday. Surely it isn't all gone!"

He nodded his blond head. "Yes it is," he said, and made no explanation. Beau paid the gas bill or the light bill every two or three months and considered that he had done his duty by his family. He paid no board at all.

"Why, what have you done with it?" Sally was beginning, and then all at once it came to her that he had spent it all on liquor for Mabel's party.

She shook her head. "I'm sorry, Beau," she told him. "But I was just going to ask you for some money. You see, I went ahead and bought all the food for Mabel's party, thinking that she would pay me the money I spent. I asked her about it last night, and she said you would give it to me—"

"She did!" Beau broke in. "Well, she didnt have any right to say a thing like that! It was her party—I got the liquor and teh smokes, didn't I? The least she could do was to pay for the eats. She makes almost as much as I do—Well, I'll see that you get your money."

But Sally knew that he never would see to it. She knew him and loved him in spite of her knowledge of him and his weakness. He was her only brother, after all.

"If I had five dollars, I'd give it to you," she said, "You know I would, don't you, Beau? But I haven't got it—I paid the rent on Saturday, and I was three weeks late with it, at that. Here!"

She opened a little brown silk purse that hung beside her toilet mirror, and handed him a limp dollar bill from it.

"That's all I can let you have," she finished unhappily.

Beau took it and went.

"What were you two gassing about?" Millie asked sleepily, turning and stretching luxuriously in her bed on the far side of the room. Her blue eyes were wide and dewy as a child's under the towsled mass of yellow hair.

Sally did not answer her. She was thinking about the dream again—the dream about Millie and John Nye. And, for one fleeting second, she almost hated Millie as she looked at her lying there. Then she was herself again.

"Thank heaven I don't have to get up this morning!" Millie sighed, clasping her soft hands behind her head. "That Nye man can stay away for a month as far as I'm concerned—I hate the thought of a job in this kind of weather."

Here was a new problem.

For with Millie not working, and Beau spending practically every nickel he earned on the demanding and jazzy Mabel, the whole load of keeping the house going fell to Sally.

Her face was thoughtful as she went out to the cool dim kitchen and measured coffee into the white-enamel pot. She didn't put in as much as usual this morning . . . Coffee, the only brand the family would drink, cost forty-five cents a pound.

"I'll have to go out to Aunt Emily's tonight, and see if I can borrow a little money from her," she decided as she began to cut paper-thin slices of bread from the one loaf that remained in the tin box on the table.

There had been two loaves there when Sally had gone to bed the night before. But evidently Mabel had made a few extra sandwiches for her party . . . All the butter had been used too. The empty crock was in the sink, full of water.

"Gee whiz!" Sally said aloud, but she could have cried. "Well, we'll have to have extra oranges this morning. That's all."

She opened the door of the little fruit closet under the sink. The large brown-paper bag that had held a dozen oranges the night before was empty, too. Mabel must have made some extra punch for the gin drinkers.

"Ye gods!" cried Sally under her breath. "Ye gods!" was the phrase that she used when she was in the state of mind where a man would have sworn under his breath.

She made hot-cakes for breakfast, that morning and it was a hot job!

Strangers That Pass in the Sea

"NOW, Salt Water Turtle had been talking a long time for a turtle. He is a silent fellow as a rule, never has much to say, and he stopped for a breath. But the small Terrapin and the little Tortoise, who had been listening carefully to every word that he said, were too interested to be polite, and together they demanded:

"'Who are the Sea Robins, cousin? Tell us about them, do.'

"Salt Water Turtle, for all he was such a tough old salt, was good natured; so he grinned at his young relatives and asked:

"'Each of you give a guess. Which do you think Sea Robin is—beast, bird or fish?'

"'Bird,' cried Tortoise and Terrapin, in chorus.

"Salt Water Turtle shook his head. "'Wrong,' said he. 'Sea Robin is not a bird at all, but a fish.'

"'Fish!' exclaimed the Turtles and the Terrapins and the Tortoises, young and old. 'Then how did he get his name?'

"'Because his fins are long and claw-like, and with them he turns over the stones to find the tiny fish that may have hidden underneath them. He likes to search for his prey in the shadows near the shore, and as he moves about he looks somewhat like a robbin out after the early worm—at least, so the Two-Legs say, and it is they who have given him his name.'

"Salt Water Turtle chuckled.

"'I mustn't get started,' said he, 'for I shall not be long enough among you to tell you all I know about the many strange folk that live in the sea. There is the long Ribbon Fish, twenty feet long—Sea Snake, some people call him.

"'He looks like a great eel. I don't like him at all; I'm afraid I'll get wound up in his tail. And a funny little fellow who coils up his tail and swims straight upright in the water.

"'He has the queerest head. I never saw a great creature that lives on the land and is called Horse, but Lady Seal told me that small as this creature of the sea is he has a head that looks like this huge animal of the land, and so he is known as the Sea Horse. He's a nice fellow, too. Minds his own business if you mind yours. I like to see him coming; he always makes me laugh. Looks so important when he is so tiny.

"'Then there is the Sea Squirt, who spits water at you just for fun; and the Sword Fish—'twould be as much as your life is worth to go near him.

"'And the terrible Shark and the Whale, who spouts as much water from his mouth as there is in a good sized pool.

"'You'd think the whole ocean was being drawn up and then poured down upon you if you were anywhere near him when he was up to his tricks!'"

Next—"Washed Upon the Rocks."

Love's Embers

THERE was an anguished finality in Noel Veritzen's voice and words which made me realize that he could not be swerved from his determination to stay away from our dinner unless his father sanctioned his presence there. I, therefore, made no attempt at protest, but spoke briskly, as if I had expected his decision.

"Then I have only one thing to ask you," I said. "Will you go back to Mrs. Tiver's and hold yourself in readiness to come over at any minute I send for you? I shall speak to your father as soon as I have an opportunity, and I am sure he will be convinced to consent. Just Among Us Girls

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

Jubilee woke me up trying to crawl inside of my shirt with me to get warm, because it got kind of cold in the night and when I woke up to tell him to keep on his own side of the bed I could see that it was time to get up, because it was getting daylight, so I got up and let him down by the fire in his teeth, and then I put on my short britches and went down and got the milkpail and went out to milk the dummed brutes, and before I got done all of the bunch were there., They all like to go to the pasture with me this time of year because apples and peaches and grapes are ripe, and we went in a vineyard and got our shirts full of bunches of concords, and they certainly felt cold against our skins when we first put them in.

We all of us stuck out around the waist quite a ways. And when we got to school Mush's wife was standing out in front like she was one of the teachers and she was grinning like a catfish, except when Feeble came along, and she growled at her. Then just when we got past her Niba and Peanuts said to each other, "Let's have a fight and give the Lost Bag of Tripe the blows!" and before he could skin out the began fighting and punching him around the stummick, and that knocked the grapes out of their skins and he got slippery with skun grapes that he could hardly hold his pants up, and all the kids in school had made nuts and they were hollering and having a ring around him and Niba and Peanuts a good time.

Someone got hold of the Lost Bag's of Tripe's shirt and pulled it outside of his pants, and he grabbed a handful of them and painted Niba in the face and Niba was going to land on him when the principle came pushing through to find out what was the matter. Mush's wife said the Lost Bag of Tripe could go in the basement and wash himself, and he went.

The teacher told us to come to her office, and when we got there she made us all take the grapes out of our clothes and pile them on her desk, and there was quite a pile of them. She asked where we got them and Bants told her off of a man we knowed, and that wasn't a lie; but the man didn't know we got them. The Lost Bag of Tripe came upstairs but his shirt was wet with grape juice so the teacher sent him home to change it, the lucky crook. We didn't get any of our grapes back. Everyone likes grapes.

"Dempsey Will Win," Says Frank G. Menke, Who Picked Tunney in 1926 Fight

BY FRANK G. MENKE

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 — This writer nominates Jack Dempsey to serve another prolonged term as champion of all the heavyweights.

The thought is that it will take five ballots—or less—for the veteran to regain his lost laurels.

Selection of Dempsey is made for various reasons, including:

(1) Dempsey today, is a vastly improved fighter, so far as the mental and physical are concerned, over what he was in Philadelphia.

(2) Dempsey has changed from the style that Tunney found so easy to conquer last year, to a newer one—a better one.

(3) Dempsey goes into this fight with a definite battle plan in mind; last year he simply went in with the idea of throwing punches hoping that sooner or later he'd be lucky enough to drop one on Tunney's chin.

(4) Dempsey has built up and will attempt a defense this time; he had no defense, and, naturally, tried none, in September 1926.

(5) Dempsey, on Thursday, will concentrate on a body attack; a year ago he concentrated on wild swinging for Tunney's chin.

(6) Dempsey threw punches any time Tunney came near him the last time they met; this time his resolve is "I won't let fly until I can't miss."

(7) Dempsey has cultivated a little patience—a mighty asset when one fights Tunney; last year he had none.

(8) Dempsey thought Tunney a set-up in 1926; under-estimated him. This year he realizes in Tunney a formidable fighter.

(9) Dempsey has learned much in the way of valuable experience from the Tunney battle of 1926.

(10) Dempsey goes into this battle with the will-to-win submerging every other thought; goes into it grim, determined.

The reasons why this column does not think that Tunney will be champion beyond the time when the final blow is struck in this fight, include:

(1) Tunney fought the greatest fight of his lifetime in Philadelphia; had every element in his favor—and history like that, never repeats.

(2) Tunney has improved in flashiness of action—and in nothing else—since then.

(3) Tunney, after a year of layoff seemed to have plenty of trouble assimilating the body punches of his sparring partner and did not seem to be able to avoid the majority of the left hooks which were tossed at his body.

(4) Tunney has become confident, almost to the point of swaggering, every time he thinks of Dempsey—a fatal error if he carries it into the ring.

(5) Tunney whipped a man without a defense in Philadelphia; a wild swinging, impatient, wildly eager fighter, who then was but a sucker for Tunney's style of countering. He meets a different—and a better Dempsey—in this fight.

(6) Tunney has been scuffed at so often as a "weak hitter" that he has become determined to show that the critics are all wrong, he has been trying to knock partners loose with right hand punches, throwing himself off balance as he does it, and leaving himself open for a counter. If he tries that a few times with Dempsey, it will be quick curtains.

(7) Tunney's knowledge of Dempsey [illegible] the Dempsey of 1926; a [illegible] stepping and prancing [illegible] always off balance, and [illegible] for the chin. This time [illegible] he meets a flat-footed fighter who isn't [illegible] swings for the jaw and [illegible] who will realize on body smashes.

(8) Tunney admits he was almost floored twice by the only solid shots Dempsey landed in 1926. If that's true, and if Dempsey will not become impatient, and if he will just fight along with reasonable care, he will hit Tunney fifty punches where he hit him two a year ago—if it is necessary to hit him those fifty.

(9) Tunney, in 1926, needed only to stand back and wait for a lunging, gaping Dempsey to come into him. This year Tunney will have to do a little of that stuff himself. And he never was a success when he had to force some of the fighting.

(10) Tunney is a champion, with a champion's responsibilities and a champion's worries, and that decreases his ability by 25 per cent.

It seems that the old saying about "They can't come back" will be worked into the limbo of obsolete things in the battle of the morrow, and that Jack Dempsey again will climb to the heights that he dominated through seven years.

Jack and Gene Quit Camps; To Step on Scales Today

Dempsey's Camp, Lincoln Fields, Ill., Sept. 21—His training paraphernalia laid aside, Jack Dempsey rested in the solitude of his camp today, confident in the belief that he is physically fit for the gigantic task that confronts him at Soldiers' Field tomorrow night.

"I am ready," said Jack, his set jaws yielding grudgingly to a smile. "Prize ring history will be made tomorrow night. Here's one ex-champion who will drop the 'ex.'"

Limbers Up Only

Dempsey appeared in excellent spirits when he arose this morning. Except for a few miles on the road to keep his muscles limber, he took no other exercise.

Jack expects to weigh 196 pounds when he faces Gene Tunney tomorrow night. This is more weight, by several pounds, than he ever carried into a ring before.

"But there will be no blubber in that 196 pounds," aver his trainers. "The extra poundage means only more dynamite for Tunney."

The official weighing in ceremonies are scheduled for today.

Dempsey was "at home" late yesterday to a number of his relatives and close friends of the family. For the benefit of Pa Hiram Dempsey, two uncles and a trio of cousins, Jack donned a pair of green tights and stepped through a lively session of bag punching.

Tunney's Camp, Lake Villa, Ills., Sept. 21—Gene Tunney went into complete seclusion today. He instructed members of his staff that he wanted to be left strictly alone between now and tomorrow night when he steps into the ring against Jack Dempsey at Soldier Field.

The guard around the camp has been doubled and none, without a pass personally signed by Tunney is allowed through the uniformed lines.

Gene Is Ready

The champion packed his sixteen ounce training gloves away yesterday afternoon after a light workout and announced that he was "ready for Dempsey."

This morning Tunney arose, donned old clothes and did three miles on the roads surrounding the Cedar Crest country club. He spent the rest of the day here with friends and apparently was in the highest of spirits.

Gene will spend tonight here and will motor to Chicago tomorrow noon. His baggage has been shipped ahead to a Chicago hotel where Tunney, after weighing in at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, will retire to sleep until the time for his bout with Dempsey at 10 o'clock tomorrow night.

JACK'S MA THERE

Mrs. Celia Dempsey, mother of Jack Dempsey, who promised her son she would attend the battle with Gene Tunney. She had never before seen her boy in a championship fight.

"SLICKERS" START WORK AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 21—With crowds arriving for the Dempsey-Tunney fight, the police today instituted a vigorous drive against confidence men.

Five alleged "slickers" were arrested. They were picked up in hotel lobbies.

George Rainey Main, a visitor from Elwood City, Pa., was inveigled into a poker game and complained to the police he was tricked out of $185. Two men, names of whom were withheld, were seized upon his complaint.

The police arrested three others this morning as ticket scalpers and one more for disorderly conduct.

Pin Topplers Start Work on Y.M.C.A. Alleys Monday

With another recreational ball season carefully laid away the Marion Y. M. C. A. is looking forward to the starting of indoor sports. One of the first of the winter sports to get under way will be bowling. According to present plans of Y. M. C. A. officials the alleys will be opened next Monday, Sept. 26. On the following Monday the maple topplers will get under way for the winter's bowling. In the intervening week the various leagues will be organized. The new bowling manager is Hollis Single who will go on duty in a day or so, getting the alleys in shape.

May Play Indoor Ball

According to Martin Verberg, general secretary of the Y, there will be an effort made this fall to organize one or two leagues of indoor baseball. The Y has facilities to accomodate only eight teams in this sport, according to Mr. Verberg. The limited facilities will make a case of first come first served in indoor ball, he says.

Plans for basketball have not taken definite shape as yet. The church leagues will, however, play as they did last year. Another plan the Y secretary has in mind is the formation of an independent basketball league. Mr. Verberg has been investigating the possibility of such a league and if it appears likely that one could be formed and conducted successfully work of its formation will likely be carried out with the aid of F. O. Rudolph, physical director of the Y.

Gym Classes Monday

The physical department of the Y will open October 3 with classes in all departments. Mr. Rudolph will have charge of the classes in the men's department and Miss Ardis Boyer will conduct classes for women and girls.

WHAT A NICKEL CAN DO!

The Lowly Five-cent Piece Now Buys a Bully Cigar, Full of Flavor and Aroma

Yes, men, a nickel does buy a regular humdinger of a good cigar. Sounds fishy to some of the brothers, no doubt. Maybe they've worked out on some of the ordinary brands, made to sell for a nickel, volume regardless. The cigar we're shouting about sold at more than a nickel for years. The volume went up. We reduced the price, jacked up the quality even higher.

Today that cigar is selling by the million on quality alone. That's the only reason you can buy such a cigar as this at five cents each. It's made of ripe tobacco. It's mild. It's fine-flavored. But nothing we say will convince you like your first long pull at a Havana Ribbon. Lay down a nickel and pick up a Havana Ribbon any place you buy smokes. Put that cigar into action right off the bat. You'll carry off a dozen with you and drop in next day for more. But don't take our word—let the cigar convince you.

BIG TEN GRID TEAMS BEING WHIPPED INTO SHAPE FOR OPENERS

Grim, Ohio State Quarter, in Hospital; Wilce Developing New Lateral Pass

Chicago, Sept. 21 — From the mob mass of willing but untutored football ambition that decorated big ten practice fields at the season's first call to arms, wizard coaches are slowly moulding the machines which will battle for the 1927 conference championship.

With the culling process practically complete, all of the Western Conference squads had taken definite form today and were drilling for the season's opening games.

Stagg's Program

Coach Stagg of Chicago sends his hopefuls through two practice sessions a day, morning and afternoon. Yesterday's scrimmages showed that the tentative varsity backfield was unable to gain ground against the tought second team, except via the air. Line bucks were checked at the start. This is Stagg's cue for a change to the passing game.

Ben Wattenberg, a light recruit back, took the eye of the veteran Stagg by completing five passes in ten attempts. Elliott Fulton, candidate for quarterback, worked on the receiving end and showed much promise, both in snaring and carrying the ball.

Dick Hanley of Northwestern is drilling his Purple squad at present on defensive plays. Hanley is blessed with a goodly number of last year's stars and expects to get a running start when the conference season opens.

Wilce at Work

From Columbus comes word that Coach Wilce has started scrimmage between his first and second string teams, which indicates that the Buckeye machine is fast taking shape. Wilce is giving much attention to the lateral pass and the development of interference. The fitness of Quarterback Freddie Grim is a serious threat confronting Wilce at this time.

The first intercollegiate "practice" games will be staged Saturday.

TICKET SWINDLERS WORK IN CHICAGO; SKIES TO BE CLEAR

Both Battlers Are Confident of Winning; Rickard Expects 150,000 To See Fight

Chicago, Sept. 21 — Fake ticket swindling, special police precautions to guard Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, a tremendous inrush of fight fans from all parts of the country and prohibition raids on disorderly places continued today to the teeming undercurrent of excitement that has gripped Chicago with the opening round of the Tunney-Dempsey battle a little more than twenty-four hours away.

Cool and fair weather for tomorrow night was predicted by the weather bureau and Tex Rickard, the promoter, estimated that at least 150,000 fans would view the spectacle from the vast expanses of Soldiers' Field. The gate receipts, it is figured, will total close to $2,500,000, perhaps more as there has been a big eleventh hour demand for seats.

On the eve of the battle, both Dempsey and Tunney expressed themselves confident of victory.

"I am supremely confident," said the rugged Dempsey. "I hope to score a knockout."

In his quiet, assured way, Tunney said: "I will win—decisively."

No one can fool the people so completely as they can fool themselves.

Tunney Must Box and Not Try to Slug Jack in Order to Win, Says Walsh

Dempsey Is Better Than He Was a Year Ago; Champion Should Make Own Fight and Not Try To Become Immortal by Knocking Dempsey Out, Says Sports Writer

BY DAVIS J WALSH

...Sept. 21—I, myself, in per... I mean the writer, assume ... David slew Goliath there ...gg in the background who ...of the winner and bet his ...accordingly. There always ... on the short end money, ... whether the contest calls for ... to whether Mardi Gras is a ... a suburb of New Orleans. ...today were bunching Demp... they had gone so far with ... that the odds on tomorrow ...eavyweight championship fight ...proximately at even money. ...ld not be, by all the laws of ... form, past performance and ... of the majority. Dempsey, ... what he has shown since ... the title to Tunney in Phila... one year ago, can't be a ... in this fight.

Bet on Winner

...form players, those handicap... who remember when a ... third in a field of three in ... picking Tunney to win. The hunch players are picking Dempsey.

In the meantime, I can discuss with some degree of confidence the fact that Tunney may blow the title because he is a man who thinks he can't lose. I hate to bet on that kind. It is the only flaw that can be named in Tunney's preparation for the fight. The young man, otherwise, is right. He probably is slightly a better fighter than he was last year, a better man in the legs and feet and a somewhat sharper hitter.

I think he knows this. It might lose him the fight. For Tunney quite clearly has indicated in his training that he wants to stand and slug instead of run and box. The oft repented story of his counter hitting, of his open field running against Dempsey at Philadelphia, has gotten under an epidermis that already is thinner than a skeleton key.

For ten rounds, he should, on form, have the speed and the straight left hand to keep this ex-champion and present challenger at his distance. He did it last year; he should be able to do it again.

But, then, what he did at Philadelphia might very well not be what he will be able to do tomorrow. Dempsey is better. In all sincerity, the writer feels that Jack, while far from the great Dempsey of Toledo, Jersey City and Benton Harbor, is a slightly superior physical specimen to the Dempsey of Philadelphia and a far superior man in the matter of mental and moral health.

Dempsey Is Slower

But Dempsey is slow where once he was fast. Remember always that, if Tunney wants to make his fight, Dempsey can't win or that at least his chances are one in ten. You see, this fight comes down not to a question of what Dempsey can do so much as it revolves around what Tunney will do. If the latter cares to make use of his natural advantage he should take the decision in ten rounds without undue clamor from the cheering section.

It may be that, like Jack Sharkey, he wants to go down to posterity as the first man to knock Dempsey out legitimately. And Dempsey, gallant old soul, will take a lot of knocking. He still has a great jaw. His legs may have lost their spring, his right hand may mean nothing more than a perfectly good set of fingers for shaking hands with members of the Kiwanis and it may be that his body no longer can accept the veneering it once was able to absorb almost with glee. But on the jaw, Dempsey still is invulnerable and he has a left hand that means more than a blackjack behind the ear.

If they were to fight in a barrel, Dempsey couldn't miss. As it is, the ring is to be twenty feet and Tunney, if he is the least bit smart, should be able to step around to the judges' nod. Am I picking a winner? Try to catch me at it.

EX-CHAMPION HOPES TUNNEY WILL MAKE IT SLUGGING FEST

Dempsey and Flynn Pleased with Reports that Tunney Is Up in Air

Chicago, Sept. 21 — "I hope he doesn't regain his intellectual temper and change his mind," was Jack Dempsey's comment today concerning stories that Gene Tunney was all frothed up and would go out fighting with the bell on Thursday night.

"I hope it, but I don't believe it," added the ex-champion.

But word from the Tunney camp insists that it is all true, that Tunney will step into Dempsey and try to knock him out instead of making it a boxing match.

Good News to Leo

Dempsey's manager, Leo P. Flynn, was greatly interested in the report. Flynn said:

"We certainly hope Mr. Tunney will check his bicycle outside the ring and really fight Dempsey.

"If he comes fighting into Dempsey that battle will be short—and it also will be sweet for the fellows who bet that Dempsey will nail him in one or two rounds. No man ever lived who could slug it with Dempsey and stand up—and Tunney is a million miles away from being an exception. He can't hit like Dempsey, he can't take it like Dempsey and I have a funny little notion that when the going gets rough he won't show the dauntless courage of Dempsey.

"You see, I know a little something about that Tunney. I could write a book about him. But what good would it do me because I couldn't get the book printed before next week and by that time Tunney will be just one of those ex-champion things."

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Chicago — Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean lightweight, won from Tod Morgan, of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, on foul in ninth round, but Morgan's title was not at stake as both fighters were overweight; My Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, won decision over Joe Reno, Trenton, N. J., 10 rounds; Archie Bell, New York bantamweight, won decision over Ignacio Fernandez, of the Philippines, 10 rounds.

At Englewood, N. J.—Harry Ebbets, Freeport, N. Y., kayoed Harry Cortez of Cuba in third round; Lou Presti, New York, drew with Jacinto Valdez, Cuba, eight rounds; Jabber O'Neil, Lodi, N. J., kayoed Mike Moran, Lancaster, Pa., in fourth round.

At Jersey City, N. J.—Ernie Rosini, Brooklyn bantamweight, won from Jimmy Rappaport, New York, eight rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Pete Lucci, Clinton, Mass., won from Harry Roberts, Boston; Smoky Woods, Portland, defeated Mike Asaf, Lawrence, Mass.

At Indianapolis — Meyer Grace, Philadelphia, shaded Sailor Friedman, Chicago, 10 rounds; Jackie Purvis, Kokomo, Ind., lightweight, won from Ralph Mendoza, Chicago.

CRESTLINE TO PLAY LA RUE TEAM FRIDAY

High Hopes Held for Winning Eleven by Village School

LaRue, Sept. 21 — LaRue High School football warriors are ready for the opening game with Crestline High School on the local gridiron Friday afternoon.

The local gridsters under the tutelage of Coach Walter Moore have worked faithfully for the past two weeks under a burning hot sun from 12 until 1:30 each day and with practically all of last year's veterans to build around, great hope is held by the local dopesters for a winning eleven this year.

LaRue journeyed to Crestline last year and defeated the eleven there 6 to 0 and it is certain that the boys from the railroad town will be anxious to wipe out last year's defeat. Two years ago Crestline came to LaRue and was defeated 2 to 0.

No lineup will be announced until just before the game Friday but the probable lineup looks like Capt. Greenwood at fullback, Carr and Couch at the halves and R. Allen at quarter with Holden and Trumbo at ends, Wilcox at center, Carter and M. Allen at tackles with the guard positions being a toss-up between Whitman, Longfellow, Price and Sheridan. Other men who look good and will probably be given a chance to show their stuff are: Parish, tackle; B. Wilcox, center; Freeman, guard; Woods, Virden, Matthews, Johnson, Metz and Boyd in the backfield.

LaRue's schedule follows:

Sept. 23, Crestline at LaRue; Sept. 30, Kenton at LaRue; Oct. 7, Richwood at Richwood; Oct. 14, Woodstock at LaRue; Oct. 21, open; Oct. 28, open; Nov. 4, open; Nov. 11, Richwood at LaRue; Nov. 18, Forest at Forest; Nov. 24, Alumni at home.

Pirates, Checked In Rush Toward Pennant, Now Lead Race by Only Three Games

Brilliant Work of Brooklyn Pitcher Halts Pittsburgh's Onward March; Blanked Second Time in Two Days with Bill Doak on Mound

New York, Sept. 21—With their sensational rush toward pennantville halted by the deadly effectiveness of Brooklyn's high class pitchers, the Pittsburgh Pirates are only three games in front of the Giants and Cardinals today and the scramble of Smoky City fans to purchase world's series tickets has vanished like a dollar bill in the grocery store on Saturday night.

Blanked Again

For the second time in as many days, the Corsairs were blanked 3 to 0 yesterday. Spittin' Bill Doak, the moist ball expert, exerted a powerful salivary influence over the battering Buccaneers and held them to two hits, only one Pirate reaching second base. A triple by Max Carey, one-time Pittsburgh idol, Hendrick's single and Herman's double won the game.

Today Jess Petty, crack Brooklyn southpaw, probably will pitch against the league leaders in the only game scheduled in the National League. The Cardinals beat the Phillies again yesterday and negotiated a tie for second place with the Giants, who were idle.

If the Pirates and Giants divide their four-game series, starting tomorrow, and the Cardinals win their next four games, the world's champions can advance to within one game of first place in short order.

Even if the Cardinals and Giants win eight of their remaining 10 games, however, the Pirates need only seven victories in 12 games to win the pennant. If New York and St. Louis make a clean sweep, Pittsburgh must cop nine out of 12 to clinch the flag.

Homers Land Victory

Successive homers by Frisch and Hafey staked the Cards to their fifth straight victory over the Phillies yesterday, 5 to 4. Sherdel and Ulrich pitched.

The Cubs, who refuse to be talked out of the race, made it four out of five by trimming the Braves, 8 to 5. Lefty Weinert was kayoed in the first inning, but Percy Jones was invincible.

In the American League the Athletics clinched second place by trouncing the Browns twice, 4 to 1 and 7 to 3. Simmons' homer won the first game in the ninth.

The Tigers, fighting for third place money, two-timed the Red Sox, 4 to 3 and 5 to 3.

GRID SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

Delaware and Marysville High School Elevens To Tangle

Marysville, Sept. 21—The 1927 football season will be officially uncorked here Friday afternoon, when the local eleven will make its first bow of the season, with Delaware High as an opponent. Delaware met the locals at Recreation Park last year and the result was a victory for Coach Kingsmore's men by a 7 to 6 score.

There are over 35 candidates for the eleven this year, 12 of which are ambitious Freshmen. Graduation last spring took a heavy toll from the line, and it has been necessary to fill many gaps.

Nothing is certain as to who will start Friday, but from the sideline at practice it appears that the following candidates are almost sure of getting in the game one or several periods: Captain Edwards, end; Kleiber and Edge, tackles; Brown and Scheiderer, guards; all of these were regular last fall. Others who may be thrown in for the other positions in the line are Nicol and Smith, ends; and Mader, Linzinmier and Gray for center.

For the backfield positions, Wilcox and Baker have been trying for quarterback; Mills and Herd for blocking half and Simpson and Bergandine for fullback.

The following schedule was announced yesterday, subject to several changes: Sept. 23, Delaware, here; Sept. 30, Forest, there; Oct. 7, Mt. Gilead, here; Oct. 17, Grandview, there; Oct. 21, open; Oct. 28, Bellefontaine, here; Nov. 3, Woodstock, there; Nov. 11, London, there; Nov. 18, Richwood, there.

Women Efficient as Jurors Court Official Declares

Kenton, Sept. 21—As far as grand juries are concerned women are as efficient as men.

This statment was made by one of the court officials here when the Hardin County grand jury composed of eight women and seven men returned 11 indictments against 13 persons when they reported at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

In spite of the fast manner in which they handled cases brought before them by County Prosecutor L. B. Brown, a feminine touch was instituted into the droll proceedings of grinding out justice when the jury inspected the Hardin County jail. In their report they stated that the jail was in first class condition but recommended that soft water be piped into the laundry in the basement of the jail building here.

None Sought Release

It was the first time in the history of Hardin County that the grand jury was composed of more women than men. One woman, however, brought down the axe of the court when she held up the afternoon session Monday 20 minutes. Not one of the women members attempted to be excused from jury service while three men sought and obtained their release.

Of the 11 indictments returned five were secret. Arthur Price and Clarence McCracken were indicted for non-support. Joe McCann and William Hoppe were jointly indicted for burglary and larceny on charges of stealing chickens.

Leslie Nichols was indicted for assault and battery on a man on the marsh. James Thompson, Marion, was indicted for assault and battery. He is said to have struck his sister here after calling her from her home. On charges of stealing turkeys Carl Swanigan and Carl Miller were indicted for burglary.

Those indicted will be arraigned before Judge H. E. Hoge in the court of Common Pleas here Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

He also states in the petition that the majority of the purported members were not duly elected, appointed, or qualified to serve as members of said council of said village. NEW YORK MAYOR STARTS BACK HOME

Winds Up European Visit After Declining Legion of Honor Decoration

Paris, Sept. 21—Mayor James J. Walker terminated his tour of Europe at 4 o'clock this afternoon when he boarded the boat train for Havre where he will board the French liner Ile de France, enroute back to New York.

The mayor arrived at the station with a scant five minutes to spare before his train pulled out.

"They should have told me this train left at 10 o'clock, and then I should have been able to make it comfortably," he observed.

The mayor appeared in a happy mood over his return to New York.

"I'll be back in time to pitch the first ball in the World Series for the New York Yankees, I hope," he said.

Mr. Walker could not leave Paris without creating a final "wise crack."

To Start All Over

"Now I will have to get accustomed to synthetic gin again," he said.

Before leaving, Mr. Walker invited Police Commissioner Chiappe of Paris to visit New York.

The New York mayor declined the decoration of commander of the French Legion of honor, which was to have been bestowed on him by President Doumergue. Soon after, he told Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the mayor's welcoming committee of New York, that he wanted no tug to meet the S. S. Ile de France when it arrives in New York harbor next Tuesday.

Tired of Speeches, Legion Members Desert Poincare

Verdun, France, Sept. 21—Declaring that they came to Verdun to visit the battlefields and not to hear speeches, hundreds of American Legionnaires walked out from the official luncheon tendered them in the market place here today, leaving Premier Poincare speaking to an almost empty hall.

"We're not in the army now. Let's go," the Legionnaires exclaimed when the prolonged luncheon and the length of the official speeches promised to cut short the Legionnaires' visit to the battlefields, they went, forthwith.

Among the notables present at the luncheon, in addition to Premier Poincare, were General Pershing, General Petain, General Gourad and the perfect of Meuse, department of Mille.

The Legionnaires, who had arrived at Verdun from Paris shortly afternoon, were scheduled to leave for the battlefields at 1 o'clock right after luncheon. But the task of serving 1,000 legionnaires taxed the capacity of the serving staff, with the result that the luncheon was not finished until 2:30 o'clock.
